

THE DAILY JOURNAL

Is the best daily paper published on the line of the Central Pacific Railroad, east of Sacramento, and having a general circulation throughout the State. It is especially valuable as an advertising medium.

HENRY M. STANLEY received the gold medal of the French Geographical Society at Paris, June 28. Admiral de la Ronciere le Noury, in presenting it, said that "it was the highest reward the Society could give, but had been well-earned by his indomitable courage and perseverance and his care of his fellow travelers, whom he took back to his homes." Mr. Stanley, in returning thanks, dwelt on the million square miles of fertile country which had been brought to light, spoke of the luxuriant vegetation of equatorial Africa, of which Algiers and Senegal gave no idea, and referred to the undeveloped economical resources of a region watered by the second largest river in the world.

The most startling stories of recent gold discoveries in the Big Horn Mountains and at Bear Paw reach Deadwood daily. A discharged soldier tells of finding a gulch near the head of the Little Missouri, where he saw gold scattered all over the ground and says that he could have picked up a wash-tub full of it had he known what it was. He brought in samples which proved to be pure gold. A party has been formed and will investigate the truth of the matter, taking the soldier back as a guide. Stampedes to the Bear Paw are leaving there at the rate of twenty per day.

Chinese authorities say that 5,000,000 people have died of starvation, or of murder by those who wished to avoid starvation, in the single province of Shansi. Such universal cannibalism has never been known. According to the most reliable accounts this famine was the result of a general destruction of the forests of Shansi.

WEEKLY CALL.—We are in receipt of Vol. 1, No. 1, of the San Francisco Weekly Call, issued on the 18th instant. Irish, a graceful and pretty young Nebraska of twenty-two, with elegant manners, winsome ways, a musical voice, and a determination to study hard. She is an experienced linguist and a good short-hand writer.

Lord Beaconsfield is our authority for saying that European Turkey will still contain 60,000 square miles and 6,000,000 inhabitants, after all the slices are taken off by the various Powers represented at the Peace Congress.

Swarms of grasshoppers have taken possession of Winnemucca. This is strange, as not even a Humboldt claims anything but sagebrush and sand in the way of verdure. The hopper is a tough citizen, however, and may tackle the inhabitants.

With the yellow fever in Brooklyn and the cholera in Connecticut it would seem that the United States is threatened with contagious diseases. A proper care should be exercised everywhere to prevent its spread. The epizootic epidemic conclusively proves that even the vast territory under the stars and stripes is not too large for disease to traverse.

That the only good Indians are dead ones seems to be on the eve of having another proof. The accidental killing of a couple of friendly Nez Perce scouts by a captain of volunteers may cause that entire tribe to join the hostiles. Those Col. Forsythe killed are safe for all time.

BATTLE OF THE BOYNE.

The 188th anniversary of the famous battle in which the forces of William III., on the first of July, 1690 (old style), won a great victory over the army of James II., occurred on the 12th, and was celebrated in various parts of the world by Orangemen, who seemingly never forget that important event.

In Canada, for several years past, this anniversary has caused a great deal of trouble and bloodshed. This year the Orangemen at Montreal proposed the usual celebration, consisting of a street parade, an oration, etc. The Irish objected to the celebration, and the Mayor, to prevent trouble, caused the leaders of the Orangemen to be arrested. They are to be tried for belonging to an illegal organization. The whole secret is, the Irish do not like to have their ancient defeat commemorated.

In the Ninth District Court, San Francisco, Judge Wheeler rendered an important decision in an Oakland case, involving over $3,000,000. Suits were brought by Theodore Leroy against a large number of residents of East Oakland and the decision, which was given for defendants, embraced three suits. The cases are founded on what is commonly known as the Bionie title, which consists of two deeds from Antonio Peralta to Robert Bionie, dated respectively July 18, 1880, and March 24, 1862.

THE Grant County (Oregon) Times says that General Howard transported his supply train of twenty-six wagons over eighty miles of the worst road on the coast, making seventeen miles a day. It was thought it would be utterly impossible to cross these mountains, but it was done without breaking a spoke. The road in many places had to be made by soldiers.

A TRAIN on the English Midland Railroad arrived one day last month half an hour behind its time, and investigation proved that the guards, fireman and stoker had availed themselves very freely of a case of wine among the baggage, and were all drunk. They will work hard and keep sober now for three months in jail.

THE terrible heat continues in the Eastern States. From the 12th to the 18th of July inclusive, 254 deaths occurred in St. Louis from excessive heat, and in Chicago and suburbs, for the four days ending Friday, 77.

The crude bullion shipments from Eureka have averaged during the month about $30,000 per day. The K K Consolidated furnace shutting down will reduce this amount about $2,000.

The Carson Tribune says: "It is reported that in consequence of the importunities of many friends, Judge O. C. Goodwin, of Virginia City, may conclude to accept the nomination of District Judge of Storey county."

Professor Stewart, in an article on "The fact of the Comstock," in the Times Review predicts that Virginia City will be reduced to a dilapidated and deserted mining camp by the war that is to be waged between the mining corporations and the Sutro Tunnel Company.

THE determination of General Sherman's son, Thomas Ewing Sherman, to become a priest revives the romantic story of the life and love of one of General Scott's daughters. As the story goes, this daughter fell deeply in love with a member of one of our foreign legations. The attachment was reciprocal, but the match was so bitterly opposed by the old hero of Landy's Lane that it was broken off. She cared nothing for the world after that and very soon was received as a nun in the Georgetown convent. Her lover returned to his native country and was soon enrolled in the priesthood of the Catholic Church. In subsequent years he was ordered to Georgetown College, and took his turn in hearing the confessions of the nuns at the convent. On one of these occasions Miss Scott knelt in the confessional to her former lover, and under such circumstances a recognition took place. She fainted, went into a rapid decline and soon after died, and he left the country again never to return. So a Washington gossip declares.

TWO ledges of cinnabar and two of silver have recently been discovered by John Kegan, in Placer county, about twenty-five miles from Sacramento, on the Auburn road, and at a point near where the Twenty-mile House used to stand. The silver in the rock can be readily seen with the naked eye. The discovery promises to be an important one.

MR. WEINBERGER, of Napa, California, is making syrup from the juice of the grape. This syrup not only competes with the lower grades but with the best golden drips. The evaporator used by Mr. Weinberger costs, with the necessary copper pan, $145, and will produce ninety gallons of syrup in twelve hours.

THE RETURN OF A LONG LOST SON.

The Silver State relates the following story of the return of a long lost son to his father—colored parents:

A bright young Pinte Indian named Carzodes arrived here the other day from San Francisco with Chief Nachee. Ten years ago, when a boy about twelve years of age, he was captured by General Cook west of Stein Mountain. He was taken to San Francisco, where he learned to read and write and has for years worked in a store. He believed that his father and mother were killed in a battle with the whites, and was rejoiced upon his arrival here to find that both are living, and are now at Camp McDermitt. He had almost forgotten the language of his tribe, and believing that his relations had been killed, took very little interest in Indian affairs. He was sent here by General McDowell to talk to the Indians and counsel them to live in peace with the whites, and, as he expresses it, "found his father and mother, from whom he was separated by war ten years ago, by reason of the present outbreak."

Madame MacMahon is described as short and stout, of a presence not impressive.
